A word about catheter safety.

Protect against UTIs

Urinary tract infections (UTIs) are a common complication for catheter users. While almost always treatable, UTIs cause discomfort, necessitate medical attention, and in more extreme cases may require hospitalization.

UTIs occur when bacteria enter a person's bladder or kidneys and catheters provide a particularly convenient pathway for bacteria on the skin to make its way into the body.

The risk of infection via catheter increases when the devices are re-used. Experts agree that single-use catheters provide significantly greater protection against contracting a UTI than repeated use of the same catheter - even when washing the device between uses.

Now widely recognized as the most hygienic alternative, Medicare and most major insurance companies have changed their coverage policies to allow up to 200 single-use catheters monthly.

Call Liberty today at 1-877-814-3482 and ask about convenient home delivery of single-use catheter products. Or visit our web site at www.libertycatheter.com
